Dachau Concentration Camp 7/7/25

originally a
men's POW or
political prisoner's
camp.
intended to hold 6,000 people, when
liberated, closer to 60,000+ were found.

The front gate
was inscribed with the words "Arbeit
mache frei"
a motto of the Nazi party.

It's alarming
how close to
the town the camp is. I imagined
it far from any
business or houses
but there is a
roofer down the road and I can hear a lawnmower.

DACHAU.

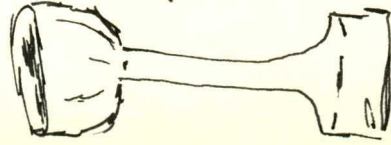

second generation v.
or victim, second gen.

Holbertus Van. Pilgrim
1991

There are very very few perpetrator objects. When used are objects, they were ones primarily used by the victims (work carts, plates, cups, documents) and most likely a recreation. Many of the perp. objects were "reclaimed" by victims by either returning them to relatives, or the prisoners enshrining things into them.

One thing that stuck out to me was a soccer trophy that some prisoners won. I think it was from playing against SS officers.

DACHAU MEMORIAL SCULPTURE - NANCOR GUID

Nandor Glid, Holocaust survivor + sculptor Created the memorial monument for the Dachau Concentration Camp.

Numinous Objects:

objects that have little to no monetary value but have an intense spiritual/emotional effect.

Ex. Pin from a victim of the Dachau concentration
camp.

It's more powerful to see in person, than on a slide show. I lingered
in this spot for a little bit with my hands on the glass. I could feel the life in it.

The pin was alongside a gold tooth crown, but for some reason, the pin stuck with me more. an ordinary object stolen.

7.8.26

I bought a new fountain pen yesterday.
It's German made + purple!
I'm writing with it now!

I tried traditional schnitzel

I also tried a lemonade beer. I drank it all even though I was supposed to save
it.

We are on the bus to Neuschwanstein castle. I'm worried it'll be cold, but I was so hot + sweaty yesterday, I do not care.

07.08.29 - Neuschwanstein Castle

Built in the 1860's by King Ludwig of Germany also known as the mad king. The castle was unfinished when he died, and left unfinished. Building the castle, as well as other things, put his family into debt that took 25 years to pay off. The paintings on the walls were all of famous stories that were operas written by Richard Wagner. The castle was designed in the medieval ~~recess~~ byzantine style that Ludwig was fond of. The castle is also covered in swan motifs.

-THE IRON MAIDEN-

The Iron Maiden was thought to be a spiked execution method however that's not true. The spikes were a later addition in the 1800s.

It is now believed that it's original function was another suaming mask, but supposed to cover the whole body.

The spikes found inside of this one were actually French Bayonets made in 1803.

DALZBURG CATACOMBS -

The entire time I was thinking about horror/thriller/adventure movies and how taking scary indigenous religion and how taking photos with flash made it look like those "Scary" folk religions that Hollywood loves to demonize. I think that Catholicism (as someone who grew up Lutheran or Catholic Lite) is very much a scary folk religion. A high priest performing a ritual where bread + wine are turned into flesh and blood where the people then attend. It's a magical folk religion. I love catholic art though it's some of my favorite Architecture and illuminated manuscripts are my favorite kind of drawings.

I loved this exhibit so much.

I want to make large scale sculptures but I'm scared to think about it because of the material expense, but seeing large works made of cardboard and palletes was very exciting. I want to live in one of Voerman's pieces. Any of them would be cool to live in.

I also enjoyed the way he constructed his pieces.

I like the viable glue and joining I think it adds to the style.

I also liked how immersive it was. At the end of the exhibit I felt like I really was exiting this post apocalyptic big city!
